Volume I, May 2006

Alabama's homeland security and law enforcement agencies now have the ability to integrate and coordinate tips, communicate leads and share investigative information through a secure web portal system developed by the Alabama Criminal Justice Information Center (ACJIC) under the sponsorship of, and funding provided by, the US Department of Homeland Security (USDHS).

The system, known as the Secure Homeland Access and Reporting Environment (SHARE), involved the design and development of a virtual fusion cell of state and federal homeland security officials, Alabama's law enforcement community, and private sector security personnel who may communicate through secure web portal access. SHARE created a formal electronic reporting and communication environment to establish effective command and communications between fusion cell agents and field officers, and includes automated data acquisition, analytical tools, and GIS presentation systems to support fusion cell activities. SHARE was designed to be integrated with Alabama's Law Enforcement Tactical System (LETS), a secure, internet-based search portal designed by ACJIC for Alabama law enforcement officers. Also included in SHARE is a field officer terrorist incident reporting component, accessible to law enforcement and criminal justice officials through LETS, which enables field officers to report potential terrorism-related incidents on a standard report form. The same reporting system is available to private sector security personnel through a separate web portal called the Private Utility Security HSRM (PUSH) portal, which provides these field officers with current homeland security information relevant to their particular sector of the economy. SHARE was developed through Information Technology Evaluation Program (ITEP) grant funding received through the Alabama Department of Homeland Security (ADHS).

About the Alabama Criminal Justice Information Center

The Alabama Criminal Justice Information Center (ACJIC) is the Alabama state agency responsible for gathering and providing critical information for law enforcement and the criminal justice community. Our information systems process more than 15 million transactions per month, and are accessed by more than 15,000 sworn officers in over 900 criminal justice entities within Alabama and across our nation. ACJIC is connected nationally to the FBI's National Crime Information Center, as well as to all 50 states via the National Law Enforcement Telecommunication System (NLETS). Our 24 hour Command Center monitors the network and all of our systems, and our toll free hotline ensures that officers will always be able to reach our help desk staff. ACJIC also publishes a yearly summary, Crime in Alabama, that provides a comprehensive picture of crime in the state and snapshots of criminal activity in specific geographical areas.
